About the Book

Hope is unlike the regular dogs. She's special, quite quirky, like a teacher with paws. She runs in the rain and slurps down soufflés. Hope even teaches her owner how to sit and to stay!

Short Bio

Allison Davis studied Early Childhood Education at Texas Christian University, spending time in both the classroom and corporate merchandising world. She currently teaches at a private school in Fort Worth, Texas. You will always find her with her dog, Hope, likely enjoying queso with family and friends in the Texas sun. Hope the Dog is her first children's book.

Long Bio

Allison Davis plucked her dog, Hope, from a bundle of fur in 2018, clueless about the wildly wonderful things the dog would teach her as they journeyed through life. A challenging season reminded Davis that HOPE was always there, a message she decided was too important to not share with others. Hope the Dog is a tangible result of this dream.

Q & A

What inspired the story Hope the Dog?

My dog, Hope, truly inspired this story. From the moment I met her I knew she was special—a vibrant, heaven-sent mascot with an unmatched personality. By no accident, Hope was by my side a few months later when I entered an unexpected and trying season of life. During a period that felt hopeless, Hope reminded me that HOPE was always there. Not only Hope my dog, but the power of everlasting, eternal hope that never wavers despite circumstances out of our control. I sat down one night and wrote the first draft of my story, determined to turn an experience that almost broke me into a message that could save others. Hope the Dog was born, and I never looked back!

What do you hope readers learn from the story?

I hope readers, both children and adults, fall in love with Hope's character and remember her when they encounter a struggle. My mission is to encourage readers to realize they can always have HOPE, no matter what.

What is your message to aspiring authors?

Be bold! Big dreams are exciting, intimidating, and packed with work. I wrote Hope the Dog and set it aside for a whole year before pursuing publication. I had a wake-up call one day and finally asked myself, "What are you waiting for? People need to hear this story." My advice is to be brave, take the next step God places in front of you, and never stop learning.

What's next for Hope the Dog?

Very exciting things are in store! I am working on future books and merchandise to bring Hope the Dog to readers around the world. Stay tuned!
